

RESIDENTIAL COLLEGE IN THE ARTS AND HUMANITIES

CENTER for POETRY

AT MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Wheelbarrow Books Presents

Playing to Your Writing Strength: Poetry Revision Workshop with

Marion Starling Boyer

Tuesday, March 28, 2023

7:00 p.m.

Doors at 6:45 p.m.

C202 Snyder-Phillips Hall (2nd floor)

362 Bogue St., East Lansing

(Enter on Phillips/West side or Courtyard/North side, 6:45-7:15 p.m.)

Marion Starling Boyer is the author of several poetry collections including Composing the Rain, and her most recent release, Ice Hours, won the 2021 Wheelbarrow Books Poetry Prize (Established). Boyer is a professor emeritus for Kalamazoo Valley Community College and served on the executive board for the Kalamazoo Poetry Festival.

Poet Gregory Orr proposes that you were born with a natural gift for writing in one of four temperaments: Music, Structure, Story, or Imagination. In this workshop you will identify your distinct talent and learn ways to enhance and complement that gift.

Bring one of your "in process" poems to experiment with ways to play to your strength.

Notebooks will be provided as needed.

@centerforpoetry

poetry.rcah.msu.edu

cpoetry@msu.edu